Public & Partner Services

Improving accessibility, responsiveness and efficiency

Electronic service delivery has long promised to transform the accessibility, convenience and cost effectiveness of services, for the benefit of local authorities and their customers and partners. The key to success is effective integration with existing systems and data.

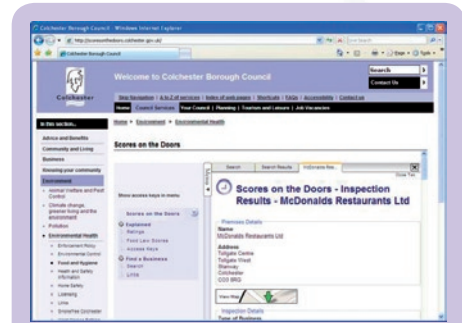

Civica's Public & Partner Services toolkit helps improve availability, responsiveness and efficiency of services through online access and interaction. It makes the latest information available to the public, while allowing citizens and contractors access in order to report incidents, request services or exchange job information.

Why Civica Public & Partner Services?

Public & Partner Services from Civica provides the means to streamline many service functions, making it easier, faster and cheaper to process information, to present it to customers, staff and partners, and to share it between services. It is a complete solution designed to help local authorities provide better access to services including those provided in partnership with other agencies or contractors.

The toolkit is designed to provide web content and functionality to:

- Provide citizen access to the latest controlled information via registers and fact sheets.
- Enable citizens to report incidents and make a variety of service requests online.
- Provide contractors and third parties with secure direct access to relevant information as and when required, while authorities stay in control of online submissions.
- Improve staff safety by allowing relevant personnel access to corporate register data, such as dangerous persons or address risk registers.
- Allow partner organisations, including neighbouring authorities, police and social services teams, to exchange relevant information and intelligence.

Colchester Borough Council

The Council is required to inspect all businesses in its area that serve, prepare or sell food. The inspections are done by Environmental Health Officers, and Enforcement Officers who are qualified and authorised to carry out Inspections of Food Business. Inspections are conducted in accordance with a Code of Practice issued by The Food Standards Agency which sets out the manner in which the inspections are carried out.

Colchester use Civica's Public and Partner Services embedded in their own web environment to publish these results and are in the process of bringing on-line Licensed Premises registers and a facility to allow Environmental Complaints to be submitted including map co-ordinates for accurate and efficient service follow up. By extending system data to a wider audience without compromising security Colchester hope to provide active, real time information to their residents, visitors, Councillors and extended partnership organisations.

At the heart of the toolkit is Civica's Share-Secure system, which allows a controlled amount of information to be exchanged between Civica's Public Protection application and any third party system via XML.

Civica Share-Secure allows information to be automatically, quickly and securely exchanged – from the online publication of statistics and public registers to communications with mobile workers and integration with corporate applications.

It also provides security assurance, for example preventing 'phishing' or inappropriate use of information.

Innovatively designed to promote easy adaptation of published information and to support local policies on data sharing, Civica's Public & Partner Services enables data to be directly extracted from the Public Protection database or any other data sources. This 'open' design also allows information from other applications to be used.
